RECENT GGUSD BOARD MEETINGS

The following is a message from GGEA President, Bridget Holdermann, regarding the recent School Board meetings:

Most of the time GGUSD School Board meetings are free from controversy. However, at the last two school board meetings, July 18 and August 15, individuals have spoken during public comments. Some were there to support a teacher, while others were attacking the district and teachers for following education code which prohibits a school from “outing” an LGBTQ+ student to their family without the student’s permission. The audio of the GGUSD School Board meetings can be accessed on the District Website at <https://ggusd.us/board/meeting-agendas>. I would like to share with you the comments I made at the school board meetings.

July 18, 2023

Good evening board members, colleagues, and community members my name is Bridget Holdermann, my pronouns are she, her, and hers. As I have mentioned before, I’m incredibly proud to be homegrown. I attended Post and Carrillo elementary schools, Irvine Intermediate, and graduated from La Quinta High School. I’m also a proud member of the Garden Grove Education Association, California Teachers Association, and National Education Association. As president of the Garden Grove Education Association, I have had the opportunity to see how amazing the teachers, nurses, and teacher-librarians are in this district. Most of the incredible professional development our teachers receive is from other teachers in the TOSA ranks.

Most of the time GGEA and the District work collaboratively for the benefit of our educators and students. Through bargaining we have reduced class sizes while maintaining a competitive salary. Much of the support we provide to our members takes place behind the scenes during weekly meetings that the executive director and president have with the Office of Personnel or our monthly meetings with the Offices of Elementary, Secondary, K-12, and Special Education.

There are times when the Union and District do not agree on a course of action. This is one of them. I’m grateful to work in a state that recognizes the right of unions to protect a teacher’s right to due process. To be completely clear, I support my teachers 100%. GGEA recognizes every teacher as the expert in their classroom. I personally support diverse views and diverse teaching styles. It is good for our students to have teachers from diverse backgrounds; I believe this encourages critical thinking, a skill we want all our students to have.

Most teachers never know about the work the union does on behalf of individual teachers, because we respect their right to confidentiality. I want every member in my local to know that if you call the GGEA office your privacy will be respected. Also, if you need your GGEA president and executive director at your side, we’ll be there. Regardless of your race, creed, who you love, how you identify, or political affiliation, the union has your back.

In closing, I know the district and the union agree, that in the Garden Grove Unified School District there is “No Place for Hate.”

Thank You.

August 15, 2023

Good evening school board members, district leadership, colleagues, and community members. My name is Bridget Holdermann; pronouns she/her/hers. I’d like to share some insight into the work the amazing educators in the Garden Grove Unified School District perform.

Many of us request our classroom keys at the beginning of August to begin preparing the room environment for our students. We all understand the importance of a room environment that sends the message, “this is a safe space conducive to learning.”

During the month of August many educators attended trainings or provided trainings to ensure that we are all up to date on the most recent research based instructional strategies in the areas of academics, social emotional learning, and technology. Others provided summer bridge courses to ensure students had the prerequisite skills necessary for success this year and beyond. On August 10th we all reported to our sites for informational meetings, site trainings, and time to plan and prepare for the upcoming school year.

As the year progresses educators will be expected to adhere to the pacing guides and adopted curriculum in the areas of history, language arts, mathematics, science, physical education, visual and performing arts, world languages, etc. All which requires hours of planning, preparing, and grading.

Many of our teachers volunteer their time to advise clubs on campus or provide a safe space for students to gather while they, the teachers, eat lunch at their desks. Many will provide before and after school intervention for struggling students or teach an extended learning opportunity where students are exposed to computer programming, cyber security, and additional visual and performing arts opportunities.

During their breaks teacher-coaches will travel with their students to sports competitions, music directors will take their students on field trips to perform and compete, AVID instructors will take their students on college visits, ASB advisors will take our student-leaders to leadership conferences, elementary teachers will travel with their students to science camp, and other teachers will travel with students to Washington D.C. All of this to provide students with real-world life experiences while still ensuring proper supervision.

Secondary teachers write letters of recommendation for their students. Elementary teachers plan small group instruction in math and language arts. All teachers differentiate and attend IEP meetings.

Then as our students begin to start thinking of summer break, educators are applying for summer school positions and planning summer bridge sessions. Willingly giving up part of their break because we, educators, understand how important it is to not let our students fall behind.

The educators of the Garden Grove Unified School District are professional, exceptional, and compassionate. So, I wasn't surprised when I heard at the recent keynote presentation that our state language arts and math scores were up to pre-pandemic levels across all grades and that our students are above the county and state averages for meeting a-g requirements and scores on AP exams. We care about the needs of all our students regardless of race, creed, who they love, how they identify, or future political party affiliation. We will follow the law.

Thank You.

I was not able to finish my comments on August 15, because public comments were limited to 2 minutes. But I hope I was able to make my point, which is that teachers are so busy teaching and providing additional support we do not have the time to do the things we were being accused of. In closing, I want everyone to know that we have the most wonderful educators in the GGUSD that constantly strive to provide the best education and learning environment for our students.
